The Markets

It is claimed there are about 14,000 bales of hops still left in Oregon and California, but these are off the market or tied up so as to be unavailable. It is claimed consumers will have to have these before the new crop comes in. Contracts are firm at 15 cents, and while offers are freely made there seems no disposition to go above that figure. Crop conditions on the continent and in England are not first class, due to cold weather and rain. The same report comes from Pacific coast points and lies are doing some damage.

Harvesting has begun in the Deschutes valley and will soon be in full blast in all eastern Oregon. New club has been contracted for at 78 cents and some bluestem at 83 cents. The cold and rainy weather did some damage to strawberries and loganberries and also made some extra work, as well as causing delay in gathering the hay crop. Alaskan demand sent eggs up a cent and the market was pretty well cleaned up at 23 cents.

rate increase. This will give the market a two days' interval to "digest" the ruling. Bonds were steady. The market closed firm.

"DEATH CORNER" GETS VICTIM.

Chicago, June 24.—"Death Corner," in "Little Italy," the local Italian colony, saw its twentieth murder of the current year early today. The victim was Frank Demarin, a Sicilian detective who was investigating a series of black hand murders. The unidentified man who shot him thrice through the body, killing him instantly, was joined in his flight by another who had taken no active part in the killing. Hundreds of persons saw the murder, but from not one of them could the police get a description of the assassin.

WILD WEST WILL BE GREAT

ANIMAL HAS PECULIAR STRIPES

Stanley Barton Has Number of Queer Creatures Hiding Up His Sleeve Ready to Spring During Cherry Fair.

Stanley Barton, the wild west show man of Salem, is assembling the most unique collection of strange and rare animals ever seen under canvas. The three-toed sloth, a yastacutus, sent him as a special mark of royal favor by the Akonad of Swat, is the only one of the species ever born in captivity; while the Sinistra Zebra, whose stripes run from left to right around his body, is the only one known to have had these decorations put on that way. There are lots of others but just what no one knows for Stanley is keeping them up his sleeve, so to speak. This morning, though, he gave an intimation as to some of them, for when breakfast was ready he was found out in the alley practicing on his spool that went something like this: "Walk in, gentlemen, and see the great living curiosities, the greatest ever assembled, in one grand and overwhelming aggregation of awe-inspiring specimens of Nature's creative handiwork. See the variegated dromedary with an assortment of humps that makes him look like the Montana bad lands, or that picture in your atlas of the world's highest mountains. Get your eyes on the great Arizona Gila Crocodilus, that measures 49 feet from head to tail and 49 feet from tail to head, making the enormous length of 98 feet. Fasten your lamps on the Necromantic camelopardis. Its neck is so long that its keeper has to use the wireless to call it to its feed, and it can only be fed something it does not like. Its taster runs the whole length of its neck and sweet things would cause it to die of concatenated and aggregated taste. Watch it roll its eyes in ecstasy as it chews gum, until it can see the back of its own neck, a feat impossible to any other animal except politicians. Size up the mammoth elephant, Fleus Elastica, with the Indian rubber properties that he can stretch further than a newspaper reporter can the truth. Don't fail to—"Oh, cut it out, and come in to breakfast," was what put an end to his rant and rags story. It would make good reading, but as it was missed and one will have to attend the circus and get onto his spool or remain in blissful ignorance of it.

Rudeen were riding at a high rate of speed on Columbia boulevard, causing it to skid and overturn, Weldon Darling, a salesman, was crushed beneath the steering wheel and is dead today from the injuries he sustained. Miss Rudeen was thrown out and slightly bruised.

Darling tried to stop the automobile after turning into the ditch to pass another machine. Darling was married.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color, Thickness and Lustre—Everybody is Using It Again.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops the scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears. After another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Local Agent J. C. Perry.

MARION COUNTY MAY BE REQUIRED TO RECOUNT

Tally Sheets in Several City Precincts Are Indistinct—Clerks Probably Were Asleep in the Cold Gray Dawn.

Marion county may be required to make another count of the votes in the neck and neck race between Justice McNary and Judge Benson for the nomination for supreme judge on the republican ticket. In looking over the tally sheets it was found in Salem precincts numbers 1, 17 and 18 in particular that they were indistinct in some places. In number 1 also there are five places where six marks were chalked down for McNary. In all cases these were counted as five. The law assumes that there shall be but five votes put down in each of the squares on the tally sheet and it is generally assumed that it is the intention of the judges to put down only five and where there are more it is a mistake.

It is explained that along about dawn on the morning after election day the markers get sleepy and are likely to put down five vertical marks in counting five then remember that the fifth mark is to be drawn through the other four. Then they scratch down another mark to indicate "tally" and go ahead with the counting. For this reason it is seldom that more than five votes is indicated by five vertical marks and one horizontal mark.

County Clerk Gehlhar says that there are probably a thousand of these "sixes" on the tally sheets that have been counted as five. There remains in the hands of the election boards, however, two duplicate sheets of each precinct. These can be called in on an order of the county court and if the totals are found to be correct according to these sheets there will be no necessity for a recount, otherwise the totals will again be checked over.
